HARDSCAPES AND PAVEMENT

COMPARISON INFORMATION

	APPLICATION	DURABILITY & MAINTENANCE	APPEARANCE & COLOR OPTIONS	INITIAL COST & INSTALLATION
CONCRETE PAVERS	Driveways, walkways and patios	High durability with low maintenance needs. Pavers regularly last for decades and many manufacturers offer a 25-50 year warranty. Stained or broken pavers can be replaced without patches. Ants and weeds in joints can be prevented by sealing pavers once.	Wide range of surface options available including different color, shape, texture and style options. Laying patterns may be varied to complement architecture of home. Different pavers may be mixed to create unique designs or color diversity. Single color may be used for color consistency.	Moderate cost. Tightly fitted, uniform units are placed over a sand bed and compacted aggregate base. Immediately ready for use. May be installed by homeowner.
COBBLE STONE	Walkways and patios	High durability as stones regularly last for decades. Wide joints may encourage weeds and ants so maintenance is important.	Lends an elegant, informal feel to areas. Different stones offer limited color, size and shape options.	High cost and difficulty of installation since each unit must be fitted together by hand. Immediately ready for use.
STAMPED CONCRETE	Driveways, walkways and patios	Moderate durability and maintenance requirements. Cracking is common in stamped concrete, and repairs may leave unattractive patches. Weeds or ants may occur in joints or cracks.	Surface is usually colored and may be customized in color depending on provider. Patterns usually imitate pavers or natural stone from a distance. Up-close surface appearance is not tight or always consistent.	Moderate to high cost and difficult for homeowner to install due to specialized equipment needs. Must wait for concrete to harden before use.
SLAB CONCRETE	Driveways, walkways and patios	Moderate durability and maintenance requirements. Cracking is common in slab concrete and repairs may leave unattractive patches. Weeds or ants may occur in joints or cracks.	Very limited color options of gray or light brown. May be colored on the surface only. No diversification of shapes, texture or styles.	Moderate to low cost; difficult for homeowner to install. Must wait 5 to 7 days for hardening before use.
ASPHALT	Driveways, walkways and patios	Low durability and high maintenance as wear and weather break down the surface. A black seal coat is required every 2-3 years to maintain integrity. Ruts or pothole repairs may leave unattractive patches. Subject to erosion from oil drippings.	Very limited design and color options. No diversification of shapes, texture or styles.	Low cost; cannot be installed by a homeowner. Goes in quickly over compacted aggregate base.
NATURAL STONE	Walkways and patios	High durability though depending on specific stone used, may chip. Fairly easy to maintain but watch for smooth surfaces that may be slippery when wet.	Wide range of color, shape and style options. Hard to maintain consistent color throughout because of diversity of color within individual pieces.	Moderate to high cost depending on regional availability. Difficult to install due to inconsistent shapes and sizes. If mortared, must wait until mortar hardens to use.
WOOD DECKING	Patios	Low durability and high maintenance as wood decks need to be resealed regularly to keep from rotting and splitting.	Wide diversity of color through stains and painting of surface. Limited texture and shape options.	Moderate cost; may be installed by homeowner. Ready for immediate use.

A photograph of a stone patio at night. In the foreground, a low, multi-tiered stone wall made of large, rectangular blocks is illuminated from below, casting a warm glow. The patio floor is paved with irregular, flat stones. Scattered across the stones are several dry, yellowish leaves. In the background, a dark, curved path leads into a wooded area with trees and foliage. The overall atmosphere is quiet and serene.

TECHNICAL INFORMATION

PAVERS AND RETAINING WALLS – WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

PAVING STONES

Natural materials are used in the manufacturing of these products. Color variations and shadings can be expected. Therefore, we cannot guarantee color and will not be responsible for any color variation. Reproduction of color photographs may vary. For actual product color, please obtain a sample of the product you have selected.

Efflorescence

Efflorescence is a common and natural occurrence. It is a deposit, usually white in color, that may appear on the surface of concrete. It is not a manufacturing defect. It is caused by moisture within the material dissolving natural salts that eventually reach the surface, leaving the salt or a white discoloration on the surface upon evaporation. We do not guarantee against efflorescence.

Leaf Stains

On occasion, fall leaves and even some garden mulch will temporarily stain paving stones. This does not constitute a defect in the product. The key word here is “temporarily.” Normal exposure to both sun and rain will eventually fade most natural stains. DO NOT power-wash stains. Paving stones are porous, and power-washing will only force surface debris into the concrete. There are chemicals available to clean stains. Please consult with a Belgard representative.

Rust Stains

Trace amounts of a natural mineral known as pyrite can be found within aggregates used to manufacture concrete paving stones and wall units. It is a common occurrence in many types of natural stone such as bluestone, granite and limestone as well as concrete and asphalt. The mineral is undetectable until it is exposed to moisture and oxygen, causing it to oxidize – resulting in rust spots or stains. Oxidation normally occurs within 6–9 months of installation. This does not constitute a defect in the product, but should you discover an excessive amount of rust, contact your Belgard representative directly. A Belgard representative will then evaluate the situation and initiate measures to address your concerns as quickly as possible.

- Power-washing – not recommended (reference Leaf Stains).
- Responsibility for claims of any kind is strictly limited to the purchase price of the material. Shipping and replacement labor are not included.
- All dimensions illustrated herein are nominal and approximate.
- Minor cracks, scratch marks and/or chipping incidental to the customary methods of manufacturing and shipping/handling shall not be grounds for material rejection.
- All warranties regarding paving stones, written or implied, are null and void should stone dust, limestone screedings or masonry sand be used as the setting bed or pavement base in any application of paving stones. Industry standards recommend the use of concrete sand in accordance with ASTM C-33 for paving stone bedding (ICPI Tech Specs 2, 4, 9, 12, 14).
- It is recommended that approximately 1% of each project built with concrete paving stones be stored on-site for replacement in case of future damage.
- Paving stone heights may vary by 1/8”.
- 3-1/8” thick paving stones conform to 8000 psi based on 2-3/8” thickness as per ASTM C-936.
- Bullnose Coping Stone, Towne Square (12 x 12), London Cobble (9 x 12.5) and Turfstone do not apply to ASTM C-936. Turfstone (5000 psi), Towne Square (12 x 12), London Cobble (9 x 12.5) and Lafitt Rustic Slab are not recommended for driveways.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR PAVING STONES:

Compressive Strength: 8000 psi

Water Absorption: 5% maximum. Will meet or exceed ASTM C-936 Freeze-Thaw.

RETAINING WALLS

Leveling Pad: Block should be 1” below grade for every 8” above grade and must be set on a 6” stone bed above virgin, undisturbed soil.

Special Design Concerns: Slopes above the wall; slopes below the toe of the wall; proposed uses of the wall, i.e., parking lots, streets, driveways, unusual loads on top of the wall; clay soils; wall terracing or water applications. Should any of these conditions exist, contact your Belgard representative for technical assistance.

Efflorescence

Efflorescence is a common and natural occurrence. It is a deposit, usually white in color, that may appear on the surface of concrete. It is not a manufacturing defect. It is caused by moisture within the material dissolving natural salts that eventually reach the surface, leaving the salt or a white discoloration on the surface upon evaporation. We do not guarantee against efflorescence.

The information provided herein is for preliminary design only. A qualified engineer should be consulted for site analysis and structure design. Belgard Hardscapes does not assume liability for improper design and/or installation.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR SEGMENTAL RETAINING WALL UNITS:

Compressive Strength: 3000 psi

Water Absorption: 7% maximum. Will meet or exceed ASTM C-1372

Composition: high strength, high density, “O” slump concrete
